A bespoke collection of South East Asian décor and accessories for spas has been launched.

Saakalya Collection's range has been developed with a holistic approach to wellbeing in mind, and is intended to provide the finishing touches to any interior renovation, with the products working in harmony to create an idyllic Asian ambience.

Some of the 'off the rack' products in the collection include driftwood tables and floor lamps, a variety of ceramic dispensers, bamboo baskets, frangipani candles and a number of textile designs. Other items can be sourced, created or customised on request, to suit a company's branding or unique concept.

Made entirely from natural, sustainable resources, no two pieces are ever the same. Singapore-based Saakalya Collection says it individually sought local suppliers for their skill and traditional values, ensuring that the community is supported and its heritage maintained.
