

Saakalya Gets Social

As you may have seen, we're working harder than ever on our social media to keep you up to date with all things Saakalya related. We appreciate all the support you've offered over the past months, we certainly enjoy bringing some way into our little world. We're committed to offering you as many stories, insights and as much news as possible so stay tuned to the following avenues:

Facebook – Saakalya Collection / Saakalya Travel / Saakalya Yoga

We love your commitment to our Facebook page. Whether it is your continued 'Likes' or 'Shares', your support encourages us to pack in the content and bring a slice of Southeast Asia right to your palm. Our Saakalya Travel page has taken off, with just shy of 400 followers we are showcasing our beautiful destinations to more people than ever!

As ever, Facebook is a two way communication tool so don't be afraid to chat to us. Ask us for information, ask us what we're up to, even ask us what we've had for breakfast, we don't mind, we love meeting new people!

Instagram

Hashtag heaven. For all the Insta'ficionados out there, don't forget to follow us - @Saakalya. We're fortunate enough to live in a beautiful part of the world and love to share its scenes, culture and craftsmanship. We'll be showcasing our favourite photos from our destinations, our latest products and plenty of other photogenic 'good stuff'. Whether you're booking one of our experiences or simply want to share in our exploration, look no further.

Pinterest

Everyone needs a way to organise their thoughts and we are no exception. Our Pinterest boards are where we collect everything that motivates and drives us. We break this down into mood boards that offer a reminder of just how special Southeast Asia is.

LinkedIn

Hello to our business friends! LinkedIn is where you'll find the brain centre of Saakalya. Keep tabs on all our latest ventures, trade fairs and media engagements. In addition, we'll be sharing insights into the spa industry, from trends and the latest developments to interesting and inspiring articles.

Xing

Our German equivalent to LinkedIn is our other business portal where we can be found joining in discussions on all the latest news in the wellness and hospitality circles.

Koh Samui

Piercing the azure waters of the Andaman Sea, a crown of green and gold remains an unquestionable beauty amid Thailand's islands. Koh Samui is a paradise that many will recognize, even if they have never visited.

The pristine powder beaches give way to towering verdant palms in a contrast of colour so abrupt that it would seem to shock to the eye. And yet, this is one of the most sought after views, one that lifts the soul upon exposure and fills with longing upon leaving.

It is here, amongst startling natural beauty that the modern luxury of world class spa resorts has developed. Offering contemporary facilities to compliment the natural surroundings, these oases of sophistication have worked hard to seamlessly bridge to gap between natural and artificial.

Indeed, the island is often thought of as a mecca for the wealthy wellness aficionados; that said there are still a bounty of destinations, tucked away and just waiting to be claimed by the lone traveller, set on finding that one waterfall, vista or temple that offers peace and tranquility without the price tag.

Such is the effect that these droplets of serenity, these Thai islands, impart upon visitors that we have attempted to encapsulate just a fraction into our latest range of amenities.

The Koh Samui Set

Seducing with the slender lines of the Thai coast, these examples of handcrafted elegance are the perfect accompaniment to your bathroom.

Available in a stylish black matte finish and accentuated by a stainless steel pump, the range contains dispensers in two sizes, as well as a soap dish and toothbrush holder.

This range is however largely customizable and can be adapted to provide an elegant solution to your bathroom requirements.
